Summary

I am a seasoned and passionate full-stack web developer with 8+ years of experience, including 4 years of a senior web developer at Icreon, one of New York's leading IT companies. In the past, I have designed and programmed websites for internal and external use, along with JavaScript-based responsive/dynamic web applications, using React, Vue, Angular, Node, Express, and various database. I have developed many Java 8 | 11 / Scala 2.x based websites, providing support with content-based requests, custom forms, back-end (Spring, Hibernate, Grails, Play, Akka, Spray), and front-end (React, Angular, Vue, jQuery, TailwindCSS).

- Passionate in creating applications to further increase the quality of life for the greater masses.
- High energy, motivated individual who thrives in a dynamic, agile development environment.
- Member of a talented and highly cohesive development team that immediately impacts the success of the organization.
- Develop maintainable and high-quality code that is well tested.
- Participate in design architecture for the front-end application and justify the development approach.
- Get with product owners and business owners to understand the requirements and convert them into beautiful user experiences.
